Mayor Discusses Housing Project

Arthur A. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Commission said today that state housing officials were more in favor of sites for a local housing project in the Flatbush avenue area than that in the Sixth Ward. The latter is not presently under consideration, he indicated and two technicians from the office of the State Division of Housing in New York, who were here yesterday and today, will prepare a report within the next few days. Water, sewer and other facilities were also examined in the areas visited. The technicians shown conferring with Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Jr. (left) were Robert E. Murray, associate architect, and Frederick L. Brooks, senior consultant to the Bureau of Community Development. (Freeman Photo)

Retired N.J. Policeman Testifies He Took Gun Away From Lutzel

Effner Is Jailed Following Quarrel

Marion DuBois Smashes Windows in Car During Fight

An argument between William Effner, 31, of West Coxsackie and Marion DuBois of the same address which took place in the Effner car Monday evening between Woodstock and Mt. Tremper on the Wittenberg road, resulted in Effner being charged with assault, third degree, and being sentenced to 10 days in the county jail. In addition the windows of Effner's car were entirely smashed out.

Effner was arrested by State Trooper Ray Dunn at Phoenicia who was summoned to the scene by a passing motorist. Taken before Justice George Brannen at Woodstock the jail sentence was imposed.

Trooper Dunn reported an argument had taken place between the parties when he reached the scene Monday evening shortly after 7:30 o'clock. Marion DuBois, who is alleged to have lived with Effner at West Coxsackie, had left the scene accompanied by two children and was overtaken a short distance away walking on the highway.

During the investigation, Trooper Dunn reported the woman reported to him that Effner had struck her in the eye and she in return had taken rocks and smashed every window in the 1936 Ford car. At the time of the argument they were en route to Wittenberg.

As a result of the story the woman told, Trooper Dunn arrested Effner on a third degree assault charge. Dunn charged that Effner had been drinking.

Will Seek Complaint In Plane Murder Try

Los Angeles, April 19 (AP)—Police said they will seek a complaint today charging 34-year-old John H. Grant with attempting to murder 16 persons.

There were 16—including Grant's wife and two small children—aboard an airplane yesterday when a crude gasoline bomb was discovered in the luggage just before the plane was to take off.

Police Detective Ned G. Logsdon said Grant, an aeronautical engineer, admitted in a lengthy statement that he plotted the death of his family to collect $25,000 insurance and pay up his accumulated debts. Detective Jack Gouldstone said he will ask issuance of a complaint charging Grant with 16 counts of attempted murder.

Say Divine Against All

New York, April 19 (AP)—A State Supreme Court Justice rapped a lawyer yesterday for "trying to prove that the entire Father Divine movement is a conspiracy against everybody." The rebuke was applied by Justice S. Samuel Di Paleo to Philip Zerner, attorney for four upstate cousins contesting the will of their late kinswoman, Mrs. Mary Sheldon Lyon, 85. The cousins contend the Father Divine cult prevented Mrs. Lyon from making a new will so the Negro religious leader and his "heavens" would profit from an earlier will leaving them $600,000. Mrs. Lyon died in 1946 after an operation the cousins say the cult ordered performed on her.

Hid It in Room, He Tells Court at Murder Trial Today

Walter Knubel of New Paltz, retired police lieutenant from West New York, N. J., testified this morning at the Lutzel murder trial that in July 1949 he took a .38 caliber gun from Theodore Lutzel at a Cottekill tavern and hid it in Lutzel's room in order to avoid trouble.

A couple of days later he said Lutzel inquired for the gun and Knubel went to the room and showed Lutzel where the gun was. At the time Lutzel said he was going to ship the gun to his son in Maine. The gun was not loaded. Knubel also testified he had given Lutzel an old .32 caliber gun prior to that time. "That gun was beyond repair and Lutzel said he wanted to get a gun for his brother who operated a hardware store at Coney Island. The .32 caliber gun was a long target model."

Knubel was cross examined at considerable length as to his giving away the gun to Lutzel and also whether he ever sold guns which had been confiscated by the police. He said he never sold a gun. He denied he had sold a gun to a New Paltz man for $15 and later took the gun back because the man failed to pay for it.

Didn't Want Trouble

At the time Lutzel had the gun taken from him at Cottekill, the witness said Lutzel had been drinking and he took the gun away to keep Lutzel out of trouble. The witness said he did not want Lutzel's mother to be disturbed by any trouble. Lutzel may have gotten into the gun was handed over to Knubel by Lutzel in the hallway of the tavern after it had been reported someone had notified the sheriff's office that Lutzel had a gun. Knubel said he had known Lutzel three years. The gun was given to Lutzel by Knubel one time when Knubel took Lutzel to New Jersey in his car.

Knubel said he never saw the .38 caliber gun after the day he showed Lutzel where it was hidden in the defendant's room. He said he was shipping it to Maine. At the time the gun was given to Knubel by Lutzel there were no bullets in it. In Cottekill in July 1949 Lutzel showed Knubel some .38 caliber bullets which he asked Knubel to inspect and see if they were good. They were covered with green mold.

Knubel denied he had seen Attorney John Bonomi at his house recently, but later stated Bonomi had come there but had not entered the house. Knubel said Bonomi had been at the door and apparently observed the contents of the house but had not been invited in. Knubel said he had a gun for which he had a license but he did not keep it loaded in a dresser drawer by his bed. He denied he ever confiscated guns and then resold them. Knubel said Lutzel had told him he purchased the .38 caliber gun from a bartender in Rosendale for $7.

Fearful Shooting

Knubel said he had taken the gun from Lutzel last July at Cottekill because there was trouble between Lutzel and a man named John and he was afraid there might be shooting.

Bonomi asked the court to grant him permission to go to the Knubel home near New Paltz in connection with the case.

Cops Check Health, Traffic Complaints

Chief Warns on Dumping Garbage and Refuse; After Speeders

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren today issued warnings against violations of city ordinances and health regulations following recent complaints to him.

The department will be watching, he said, to stop the practice of dumping refuse and garbage on city property in the North street, Devil's Lake, Locust avenue and High Road areas, and those caught will be duly penalized.

Special orders were issued also, following complaints of motorcyclists riding in the city without mufflers or what is known as "pass mufflers." Arrests will be made if the practice continues, the order said.

Police headquarters was also notified yesterday that a few drivers have been speeding and traveling recklessly on West O'Reilly street between Mary's avenue and the entrance to the golf links where driver training classes are in progress between 3:30 and 6:30 p. m.

The department has been on the alert for the past several days to end speeding in the city and several drivers have been arrested and fined within the past few days.

Public Hearing Set For Zone Changes

A public hearing will be conducted in the Common Council chamber, city hall, tomorrow at 7:30 p. m., on two proposed changes to the zoning ordinance and another is slated for next Tuesday on a proposed ordinance aimed at stemming the nuisance of barking dogs.

The hearings tomorrow are on the applications of Charles Nestell for a property at 108-110 Henry street, for use as a radio repair shop, and Frank Kautz for a property at 594-596 Delaware avenue for use as a barber shop.

Ernest Gilyardi Struck by Car of Rev. R. B. Coons

Didn't Know Boy Was Hit Until He Felt Bump; Heard Girl Scream

Ernest Gilyardi, 20-months-old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gilyardi of 611 Abeel street, was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital early this afternoon after he was struck by a car driven by the Rev. Richard B. Coons, pastor of the Reformed Church at Shokan on Abeel street.

The Rev. Coons said he was driving to St. Remy to keep an appointment with his wife's niece when the child was struck. He told police he did not see the child and was unaware of what had happened until he felt a bump against the car and got out to investigate.

Police headquarters was notified and Capt. William T. Roedel sent a W. N. Conner ambulance to the scene.

Coroner Ernest A. Kelly was notified when it was found that the child was dead on arrival at the hospital, and he said an autopsy would be performed.

The Rev. Coons said he heard a small girl near the scene screaming at the time of the mishap, but could not tell what had happened until he got from the car, police said.

Sgt. Lemuel Howard dispatched Officers Thomas McGraw, Kenneth Stratton and Detective Clarence Brophy to the scene and their investigation was still in progress at Freeman press time.

Buries Other's Wife Then Dies Himself

Los Angeles, April 19 (AP)—Mrs. Pauline Smith, 50, Los Angeles, entered General Hospital a year ago.

Last March 14, Mrs. Pauline P. Smith, 75, Covina, Calif., was admitted for treatment.

On March 24, one of the Mrs. Smiths died. The husband of the younger, Covina, Smith, was notified. Without viewing the body, he signed burial papers and the body was interred.

A few days later, Edward Smith of Covina inquired about the condition of his wife, the elder Mrs. Smith. An error was discovered. The woman who was buried was the wife of Edward, not Clarence Smith.

Authorities tried to notify Clarence Smith that his wife was still alive. But in the meantime he had died April 10—at General Hospital.

Eight Fire Calls Are Made for Grass Blazes

Weather Foils Rain Man Again

New York, April 19 (AP)—On again, off again, gone again... rain again?

New York city's official $100-a-day rainmaker announced plans last night to tickle clouds over the city's reservoirs with dry ice until they cried, then cancelled them today.

There was no immediate official explanation. But it was learned on good authority that the rainmaker, Dr. Wallace E. Howell, decided the weather was not right for cloud-seeding.

In the watershed area upstate a slight overcast of clouds with sunlight filtering through was reported.

Weather blanked out his first two flights, but the scientist marked up a "possible" last week when unseasonable snow followed his third attempt. On other occasions he has announced plans for rain-making attempts, then cancelled them.

Flood Victims Are Plagued by Cold; More Flee Homes

(By The Associated Press)

Freezing weather today added to the discomfort of the thousands made homeless by flood waters in North Dakota.

The cold air from the gulf of Alaska and central Canada spread across the great plains states and upper Great Lakes region. Temperatures were below freezing in some parts of North Dakota and Minnesota.

Meanwhile, additional families were forced to flee their homes as bulging rivers and streams surged to new levels over large areas of North Dakota and western Minnesota.

In Jamestown, N. D., where 500 families already have fled their homes because of the flooded Mississippi river, the James river started to move over its banks. Scores of homes in the city of 10,000 population were under water. National Guardsmen and Jamestown College students evacuated families endangered by the rapid rise of the James river.

The Red Cross has estimated some 3,000 persons were homeless in North Dakota.

The Red river was 33.10 feet above flood stage in northeastern North Dakota. Two hundred families were moved from their homes at Grand Forks, N. D.; 100 families were evacuated in nearby East Grand Forks, Minn., and 200 families at Grafton, N. D. The floodhouse at the state university was converted into a dormitory for refugees.

Many other tributaries of the Red river were on a rampage. The U. S. Weather Bureau said the cool weather, which will send temperatures below freezing over north central areas tonight, was expected to remain over the midwest for 36 hours. Snow flurries fell in northern Minnesota and North Dakota.

The Gulf and Atlantic States had mild weather and temperatures over most of the area west of the Rockies were above normal.

Light rain fell today in an extensive but narrow belt from the upper Great Lakes region to northeast Texas.

Check Robbery Clue

Boston, April 19 (AP)—Investigation of the three-month-old $1,700,000 Brink's robbery centered in Brooklyn today. More than a score of FBI men were reported working quietly in that city on a lead that was picked up in a Stoughton dump. On the thin hope that a burlap bag found in the dump several weeks ago may furnish a clue to the holdup men, the federal investigators were trying to trace its source.

Fireman Saves Train

Glen Rock, N. J., April 19 (AP)—A railroad engineer died at the throttle last night, but a fireman piloted the train to safety. James Arthur Lamb, 57, collapsed of a heart attack while driving the 5:46 p. m. Erie Railroad train from Jersey City to Ramsey. Fireman William D. McMahon seized the controls, after which a relief engineer took over.

Soviet May Shoot to Shut Baltic

Hope Dim Russians Will Guarantee Safety for Any Fliers in Future

Blame Americans

Next Move for U. S. Is Hinging on Further Study of Incident

Washington, April 19 (AP)—The possibility of further Soviet-American air clashes along the uneasy front of the cold war in Europe is being carefully studied by top officials here.

They are also deeply concerned, it was learned today, about the reasons why the Russians allegedly shot down a U. S. naval plane in the Baltic Sea area April 8. They have demanded but doubt they will get Soviet assurances that no such thing will happen again.

The demand was set forth in a note of protest delivered to Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky in Moscow yesterday by Ambassador Alan G. Kirk.

The formal note declared that the United States Government had Soviet fighter planes fired on an unarmed navy "privateer" over the open sea, and declared this to be a violation of international law and "peaceful conduct between nations."

The American version of what happened when the four-seater craft disappeared with ten crewmen aboard crashed head on with a Russian protest note which Vishinsky handed to Kirk a week ago. That note claimed that a Russian fighter fired on an American four-engine craft only after it had flown illegally over Soviet territory, and fired on fighters which sought to signal it to land.

See Reds Standing Fast

State Department officials saw no prospects that the Russians would withdraw from their version of the incident and therefore expected U. S. Moscow would reject both the American charges and the demands growing out of them.

These demands were that Russia should make a "prompt and thorough investigation" of the affair and should order the Soviet air force "that there be no repetition, under whatever pretext, of incidents of this kind."

Mayor Welcomes Vols to Kingston For 50 Convention

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who last night welcomed the convention of the Ulster County Firemen's Association to Kingston in July, said the Broadway crossing project may present a problem, but whatever difficulties arise will be solved later.

Arthur Whithall of Rifton was appointed general chairman of the convention at the regular monthly session of the firemen last night in Walker Valley.

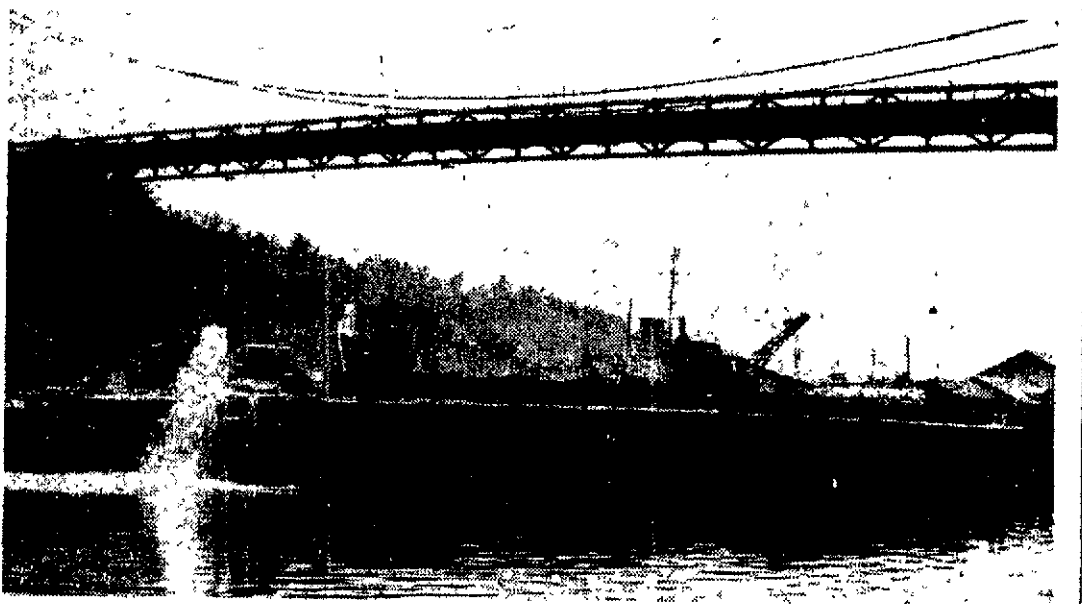

The program included a talk by Judge W. Newcomb Calver, of Newburgh, who recounted his experiences during the Japanese war trials in the Philippine Islands. He is a former assistant district attorney in Orange county.

Lapo New President

The session was the first held by the association in Walker Valley and was conducted by Reginald Lapo, of Woodstock, who became president following the recent death of Charles Elmdorf of Biffon.

SALUTE TO VOLUNTEERS
The Poughkeepsie New Yorker in a recent issue contained a story on the need for more paid firemen in the Bridge City stated that the "report said that only a small number of volunteers can be depended upon to respond to alarms."

In the City of Kingston the direct opposite is the case. Here we have volunteers who are very active.

Volunteer companies in the Ponckhocke and Wilbur sections have requested the Board of Fire Commissioners to buy them new fire trucks.

Cordts Hose Company requested the commissioners to increase the district that company covers as they feel they would be able to give good service.

Wicks Engine Company has requested additional territory during the elimination of the Broadway crossing as they feel that they can give good service in both the 10th and 11th Wards. The Wicks Company also has requested the fire commissioners to repurchase the Seagrave Hook and Ladder so it may be out in service in their district as the company has sufficient active members to man two pieces of equipment.

Excelsior has requested additional calls. This record of service is not complete but is sufficient to show that Kingston volunteer firemen are vitally interested in their duty of protecting the property of the citizens of our city.

Also by rendering this service and performing this duty, the work of these volunteers keep the insurance rates at a low level for the citizens.

Kingston well may feel proud of its volunteer firemen.

JUNIORS' LICENSES
Governor Dewey has signed a bill rescinding a 1949 law that permitted, for the first time, night driving by licensed "junior" operators.

The governor's memorandum stated that accidents involving young people have almost doubled since the law was relaxed last year. From July to December of last year, 880 junior operators were involved in 33 fatal and 847 non-fatal accidents. Junior licenses are issued to persons 16 and 17 years old. The appalling highway fatalities should be sufficient proof that the driving of motor vehicles is a very serious business to be taken very seriously by all operators, both young and adults.

The youngsters' performance behind the wheel, added to that of the older drivers, increased the roadside slaughter to an alarming degree.

AGAINST TREASURY PLAN
Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder has told the Senate that he does not want his powers increased. Since that is a surprising kind of attitude to be found in governmental affairs, it commands attention. Snyder said that he is opposed to the President's reorganization plan for the Treasury, because it would make the controller's office subject to the Treasury. He likes the rest of the reorganization proposal.

The Senate Banking and Currency Committee has made the same objection, saying it believes there would be no increase in efficiency or economy, and that the controller's office would lose desirable independence. Banking interests also are opposed. This reorganization plan appears to be headed for a Senate veto.

INDIA GOES DRY
Prohibition was not killed by its lack of success in the United States. It has been established in India, but only for the natives. Foreigners may get licenses for buying liquor, under the theory that they could not stand the climate otherwise.

Even the driest of American states hardly equals the rigidity of the prohibitory law in some of the provinces of India. In Bombay it is an offense to keep more than two bottles at home. In Madras all possession is forbidden, and hotels refuse to serve soda water and fine juice in rooms for fear that the

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY,

THE MORALS OF A PEOPLE
Clement M. Hull, writing to the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegram, complains about me on the grounds that I said that in public life is worse than in sin in secret. Mr. Hull cannot go along with what seems to be an encouragement to hypocrisy. He says:

"... Progressive moralists try to deal with evil by digging it out of its hiding places and looking it square in the eye. This results in such things as campaigns against syphilis, campaigns for better reform schools. Spiritual illness is treated by educators and psychologists much in the same way as psychological disorders are treated by psychiatrists and physical disorders are treated by physicians. Less and less do we try to hush-hush and less and less do we blame and condemn."

In the first two decades of the Twentieth Century, many hoped that frankness might make a better world. We had been reading Ibsen and Shaw, Wells and Brecht; we had read Kraft-Ebing and Havelock Ellis. We had been fed Preserved Smith and the theology of higher criticism. Tolstoy, Dostoevsky and Gorky had come into our lives. We knew truth and we understood progress.

Well, take the perspective of 1950. What of progress? Most of the world—all of it from the River Plate to the Pacific—is altogether without freedom or progress. It has all turned back to a rigid feudalistic enslavement of man.

As I come to think of it, I was in one of the first strikes for academic freedom. It was so long ago. William Howard Taft, president of the United States, had attacked Charles A. Board, our professor of politics, who had written a small book, "Economic Interpretation of the Constitution." We heard that President Nicholas Murray Butler was going to fire Board from Columbia. We went on strike for academic freedom.

How fresh was the air we breathed! Mind you, I was brought up in the slums of New York—but we did not, as children, encounter pantries, furies, homosexuals and our mothers did not worry about the corruption of our sisters by Lesbian school-teachers.

Sure! All things happened that have been happening since Lot's wife was turned into a Pillar of Salt, but we grew up with the law of the sidewalk that a liar deserved a punch on the nose and got it; and that a thief landed in jail; that a judge was expected to be straight; that the President of the United States was a gentleman to be emulated, even if it was tough to try to be like him.

We were taught to respect our parents, to be ashamed of our wrong-doing, to confess when caught and to cry and ask for forgiveness.

My mother lived to be well past 80 and she never understood my way of life, which was very different from hers. But I never lied to her—not once. It was just something that could not be done.

So, when Mr. Hull makes the point about bringing everything out in public, he misses several things about human nature which the ancient moralists understood only too well.

1. Advertised vice is encouraged vice. If all the world pointed to two suicides that happened in recent weeks as ego-worship, not to be admired—it might be of some benefit. Instead all parties to the suicides, which grew out of sex-talk, involving divorce, were romanticized in the press. In fact, all these parties happen to be nonentities; yet they were held before youth as important people.

2. Advertised indecency often is condoned indecency. In fact, in the Ingrid Bergman situation, much of it was press-agented and encouraged by gossips who specialize in vice.

3. Radio, television and motion pictures, aided by the press, have glamorized nobodies into celebrities whom children worship. It is all synthetic to make money. The heroes of our children are no longer the great of our history but the small fry of today's advertising and publicity agents' necessity. Unfortunately even politicians, clergymen, professors in universities and a few newspapermen compete with them for publicity and cheapen themselves and our lives.

Of course, none of us are paragons of virtue. But do we have to show our children our worst sides? Is there nothing good we can show them? Isn't that the reality of life?

That Body of Yours

INFANTILE PARALYSIS
Although the epidemics of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) do not occur usually till toward end of August and during the months of September and October, parents of small children dread the coming of these months as much as do residents of hurricane districts.

When we think of the hundreds of thousands of dollars given by sympathetic men and women to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, we may wonder where and how all this money is spent. Yet epidemics of polio are not decreasing, though fortunately fewer ones have not been so damaging as previous years.

When we see these many thousands of dollars so carefully and yet generously distributed to the various reliable research organizations throughout the country, we fail to understand why so much money is spent every year with no apparent effect upon this disabling disease.

Only physicians and medical research workers can really know something of the tremendous amount of work on polio that is being carried on everywhere throughout the country. This knowledge is made known to them by means of Poliomyelitis Current Literature, a periodic annotated list prepared by the Library of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis at the American Medical Association, Chicago. From this literature we learn that the small organism causing polio is of several varieties, some of which appear to be more crippling than others.

Generally speaking, "the crippling and disabling effects of poliomyelitis that occur in about 20 percent of cases in an epidemic constitute a cumulative effect upon a community." These cases require long periods of orthopedic care (straightening of limbs by exercise and surgery) to enable the child to walk and play again. This takes years. In the average community, epidemics of polio occur on an average of one every three years.

When we see a youngster two or three years of age being wheeled about, and then a few years later see this child playing and running about like other children, the expense does seem to be worth while.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Here is more insight into the operations of Wisconsin's mercurial Senator Joe McCarthy.

In 1948, McCarthy went on a 30,000-mile tour of the country, supposedly to study the nation's housing.

A few months later, in the spring of 1949, Senator McCarthy was in need of financial aid, while Carl Strandlund, president of the Lustron Corporation of Columbus, Ohio, was in need of congressional aid.

Lustron, almost wholly financed by the federal government, was having great difficulty launching its prefabricated housing venture despite 32,000,000 R.F.C. dollars. In fact, Lustron was having such difficulty that some congressmen proposed an investigation.

It was about this time that Senator McCarthy and Lustron-boss Strandlund developed what amounted to a mutual-aid pact. McCarthy dashed off a 7,000-word article on housing, and Strandlund paid him $10,000 for it. The article was based on material McCarthy had obtained in the course of his government-financed trip, and the rate of pay was $135 a word, which would make most authors green with jealousy.

Actually, of course, the $10,000 Strandlund paid to McCarthy was part of the R.F.C. millions the government had advanced Strandlund.

Catholic Criticism
Significant development in the McCarthy-State Department Red hunt is the recent editorial in the Catholic Review, official organ of the Washington-Baltimore archdiocese, critical of Senator McCarthy.

Significance of the editorial lies in the fact that though McCarthy's over-zealous charges have been deplored by many lay Catholics, his original campaign was discussed and encouraged by some of the clergy at Georgetown University—acting unofficially and as individuals. He has also received vigorous support from the Brooklyn Tablet and some of the former Coughlinite extremists which do not represent the church.

How much of this latter support was inspired by William J. Goodwin, former Coughlinite and Christian Frontier, is problematical. Goodwin is a registered lobbyist and gets $25,000 a year for promoting the cause of the Ku-klux and the Soong dynasty in Washington. Undoubtedly he has some influence with his old friends on the Brooklyn Tablet.

Regardless of this, Lobbyist Goodwin definitely has an interesting connection with Sen. Bob Taft, and this may account for Taft's statements—which have astonished many old friends—supporting McCarthy. Goodwin occupies an office, while in Washington, with Paul Marshall, formerly a member of Taft's staff, and during the 1948 election campaign, Goodwin was one of Taft's political workers.

Taft's Poor Judgment
Goodwin sold himself to Taft in 1948 on the idea that he could round up Catholic delegates, though actually he was a constant liability. Not realizing that Goodwin's connection with the Coughlinite extremists were not at all representative of the church, Taft sent Goodwin all over the U. S. where he represented himself as Taft's boss, and made outrageous claims of political achievements.

Among other things he claimed responsibility for the 1946 election of G.O.P. Senators Ecton in Montana and Malone in Nevada; was supposed to have brain-trusted Reverend of Wyoming and Robertson of Pennsylvania for Taft, though Duff was for Dewey in the end.

Despite this, Taft has shown such poor judgment as to spend hours with Lobbyist Goodwin—even today—listening to him boast of his political power inside the church and with old-line Democrats.

This explains how Taft happens to be for McCarthy's grandstanding—despite statements by Governor Dewey and G.O.P. Senators Lodge, Flinders and Ives divorcing themselves from McCarthy's attacks. This is also why the editorial in the Catholic Review is significant at this time.

Note—During the original McCarthy conferences at Georgetown University, some of the clerics were emotional against Secretary Acheson for failing to send an ambassador to the Vatican, though actually it has been Truman, not Acheson, who has held back on this.

It's the taxpayers' money, and they are entitled to know how it is spent—but Mr. Biddle doesn't seem to realize this.

U. S. Note to Russia About Firing on Plane
Recalls Those That Preceded Two Wars
By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 19.—Note-writing between two powerful governments can prove to be the precursor of a crisis that leads to war. For when notes are written the element of pride enters so strongly into the controversy that retreat by one or the other becomes in itself a problem.

The United States has written to Russia in the historic language of serious diplomacy. The American government has accused the Soviet government of firing on an unarmed plane causing the death of ten American citizens.

Just thirty-five years ago this spring, the United States sent a similar note to the German government accusing the commander of a German submarine of firing on helpless American citizens traveling on an unarmed ship, the "Lusitania." War for America eventually came in the end.

This same kind of demand was made of Japan when the American vessel "Panmy" was sunk in Chinese inland waters upon the orders of a Japanese naval commander. War eventually came in the end.

The customary course is to ask for punishment of those who have offended and to demand steps be taken to prevent repetition, and that there be an expression of regret or apology and an appropriate indemnity.

What is most significant is that the United States government chose to make identical demands of Russia. There has been no softening of words or phrases. The exact language is important to examine. The note says:

"The ambassador of the United States has been instructed to protest in the most solemn manner against this violation of international law and of the most elementary rules of peaceful conduct between nations. The United States government demands that the Soviet government institute a prompt and thorough investigation of this matter in order that the facts set forth above may be confirmed to its satisfaction. The United States government further demands that the most strict and categorical instructions be issued to the Soviet air force that there be no repetition, under whatever pretext, of incidents of this kind which are so clearly calculated to magnify the difficulties of maintaining peaceful and correct international relationships."

"The United States government confidently expects that, when its investigation is completed, the Soviet government will express its regret for the unlawful and provocative behavior of its aviators, will see to it that those responsible for this action are promptly and severely punished and will, in accordance with established custom among peace-loving nations, pay appropriate indemnity for the unprovoked destruction of American lives and property."

This means that if Russia does not show a willingness to compose the affair, relations will become strained much further than they have been in the cold war and that the American people will have far more cause to be inflamed against the Russian government than they have ever had before. Many of the complex matters of the cold war are not widely understood, but the shooting down of an unarmed American plane is thoroughly understood. American pride is injured—further for Russia spurs the American note and does not show a conciliatory spirit toward settlement, the temptation will arise to take retaliatory steps. This might mean the sending of armed air forces to patrol the borders between the Russian-occupied areas and those of the United States and allied countries, with orders to shoot down any Russian planes that may venture across the line.

When matters get to that stage of stage anything can happen. The Russian Foreign Office, therefore, has been poorly advised to accuse the American aviators of flying over their territory and of firing on Russian fighter planes. It would have been so much simpler and easier for all concerned if the Russians had admitted the error of their aviators and expressed regret. There would have been no serious consequences.

The American people will not believe that the U. S. Navy plane was armed. They will believe that it was unarmed. So the Russians will not be able to further charges to change American public opinion. The Soviet government is confronted, therefore, today with the most serious decision it may have to make in its post-war relations with the United States—a decision that can lead to war as incident after incident arises to inflame the people of the United States or one that can lead to peace and a better understanding between the two governments. The United States does not want a note of such firm language as this, which is calculated to maintain peace and correct international relationships.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

When Harry S. Truman receives the agents of the American press in "conference," he is a trinity. He is a simple citizen, president of the United States and head of the Democratic party. He conducts these affairs on his own terms, using the "prestige of office" to hide corruption and protect himself, as an individual, and his party. The situation is a great moral crusade against vice and crime still echoes and the fumes from his native political slum pervade the hour.

Truman's congregation of mayors, cops and county attorneys in Washington, who heard his "call" for a great moral crusade against organized crime was a jarring subterfuge to entice into a weak position a congress of political bums in the lower ranks of his party so that they could be stuck up for tickets to a big clam bake at $100 each. Tom Clark, of the Supreme Court, as attorney-general, had brayed a similar alarm during his incumbency as guardian of the general welfare including juvenile chastity. He was unembarrassed by the old familiar Jackson county stench, arising that time from election frauds won't in the master's name and by the threat of the ballots by Petermen who blew the vault of the public custodian.

Since Truman's fearless denunciation of wrong, in principle, J. Howard McGrath, his attorney-general, has sent bills to Congress to liquidate state transactions of betting odds on our native lunacies. Another would forbid, with appropriate penalties, the interstate shipment of slot machines.

Now, as a reporter attending a Truman press "conference," I would want to ask some questions on these topics.

Mr. President, would you begin, using that address out of respect for the "office" whatever your contempt for the man, "Two of your Kansas City henchmen have just been murdered in a gang shooting. Recently, one of these hoodlums, Charlie Banagaga, sat down front at a formal political banquet of your home chapter of the Democratic party in honor of Bill Boyle, the Democratic national chairman and your personal vicar. Is your cry for a moral crusade a hypocritical ruse to divert attention from your own continuing association in the political underworld of Kansas City?"

U. S. Official Is Ordered Out of Czechoslovakia

London, April 19 (AP)—Czechoslovakia today ordered the expulsion of Joseph C. Kolarek, director of the U. S. Information Service, and demanded an immediate halt to the U. S. I. S. activities in the country.

At the same time dispatches from Prague said six Czechoslovakians, one of them a woman, went on trial in Prague State Court in Prague, charged with belonging to a spy ring directed by the U. S. embassy. The Czech news agency said the chief defendant, former Army Major Jaromir Nemsky, confessed to charges of high treason and spying.

In a telephone call to Berlin, Kolarek, press attaché of the embassy in Prague, said the Czech government accused him of "grossly abusing" his diplomatic office by using Czech nationals for spying and propaganda work against the Czech government. Kolarek denied the charges.

The Czech government last October had announced it had smashed a spy ring directed by six former U. S. Embassy officials. U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson said in Washington at the time that these charges obviously had been "trumped up."

Under Pressure
The U. S. I. S. Library long had been under Czech Secret Service pressure. The library frequently was stopped and warned not to return there.

In another development, J. Zastava, 20 years old, was sentenced to 18 years in prison on his conviction on charges of high treason and spying. Zastava, a student, also was ordered to leave the country, the dispatches say.

Zastava was reported sentenced along with 15 Czechs, but details of the accusations against them were not immediately disclosed. The Czech Foreign Ministry sent a note to the U. S. Embassy in Prague, and Bratislava, Slovakia, be closed down by noon Saturday and that Kolarek leave the country within "an appropriate time."

Two Face Charges
Jersey City, N. J., April 19 (AP)—Philip F. McGovern, former city clerk of Jersey City, will be charged with taking $5,725 in pay-off kickbacks. The Hudson county grand jury indicted him yesterday. At the same time they charged Bernard J. Rosenberg, McGovern's former deputy clerk, with preparing false overtime claims. Rosenberg will be arraigned with McGovern.

pany of an officer and the district attorney to examine the room in the Knobel house. The visit he said was for the purpose of impeaching the witness' testimony. The request was denied.

Irving Hoag, employed at the Bergemann home, was called and said on the night of the shooting he had seen Ruth Bergemann come to the kitchen, open her handbag, lay it on the table by Hoag and use an atomizer which she used for an asthma condition. There was no gun in her bag at the time. She closed the bag and left the house. This was about 8:30 o'clock. The pocketbook or bag contained four or eight inches and contained a dollar, a nickel and on handkerchief. He said the bag was only a few inches from him when it lay open on the table. Hoag admitted he had been convicted of a crime.

At the morning session Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline testified to have taken the top coat of Lutz to the Kingston laboratory for a laboratory test. He identified the coat in evidence as the one he took to the laboratory.

Lionel Herrington of 238 Elmendorf street testified to making blood tests of samples found on the coat. The tests disclosed human blood on the sleeve and collar. It was Type O.

James W. Osterburg of the New York city police laboratory testified to tests made for blood on the seat cushions of the Bergemann car. It was human blood, Type O.

A recess was taken at 1 o'clock until 2:15. A 14-page typewritten statement which Theodore A. Lutz made and signed at the Lake Katrine state police barracks on the day he was brought back to Ulster county following his surrender in New York city, was produced and offered in evidence Tuesday afternoon.

The statement, which was in question and answer form, was not objected to by Defense Counsel John Bonomi. Bonomi only asked that he be supplied with a copy of the statement together with a copy of a previously introduced statement which Lutz gave to New York city detectives November 23 at detective headquarters in the Elizabeth street station.

District Attorney Bruhn said that while he was not bound to provide copies he would do so. The statement was offered during the testimony of Sergeant Arthur A. Reilly of the New York State Police B.C.I. unit who is stationed at the Lake Katrine barracks and who was one of the officers who was present when the statement was given.

The statement, sworn to and signed by Lutz, in the presence of the officers and District Attorney Bruhn, stated that Lutz was 47 years old, born in Brooklyn and was a carpenter by trade. He said he had been employed at the Bergemann place as a carpenter a short time during 1948 and again in 1949 when he came to High Falls and worked as a carpenter.

On November 20, 1949, he left the Bergemann farm after an argument.

The statement went on to say that Lutz and Ruth Bergemann had been out together November 20 and 21 and had come to High Falls and worked as a carpenter.

Lutz testified that he introduced Lutz to the others present, explained who they were and told Lutz that they wanted to ask him questions.

He testified that it was made clear to the defendant that his questions and answers will be reduced to writing and any answers may be used against him in criminal action at a later date.

Reilly then explained the procedure, stating that the questions and answers were typed a page at a time by Fred Bruhn, and each page was completed and passed to Lutz to read, "which he did." On completion of the question, Lutz re-read the entire 14 sheets, Reilly testified.

Sgt. Reilly testified that the signature on the statement presented in court Tuesday afternoon was Lutz's signature, that he had seen the defendant sign it, and that the statement bore Reilly's own signature along with those of Sgt. Baker and Trooper Johnson.

Bullets as Evidence
Two bullets were received in evidence Tuesday afternoon. One of them had been identified by several witnesses as the one which Dr. J. Spittswood Taylor took from the head of the deceased Ruth Bergemann during the post mortem examination. It was admitted without objection by Defense Attorney John Bonomi.

The other bullet was identified by witnesses as one found in an automobile located on West 44th street, New York, on the day following the shooting. Bonomi objected to its admission on the grounds that no connection had been established between this bullet and the death of Miss Bergemann. Judge Cahin overruled the objection.

One of the prosecution's witnesses Tuesday afternoon was William D. Kirwan, Cohoes, a member of the state police since 1936 and director of the New York State Police scientific laboratory at Albany since 1941. Kirwan testified that the bullet taken from the head of Miss Bergemann weighed 142.6 grains, indicating it was a .38 calibre bullet. It was lead with a copper coating, indicating it was manufactured by Western Cartridge Company he testified.

The bullet was distorted and its lands and grooves obliterated so that the exact identity of the revolver from which it was fired could not be determined, he said. The other bullet, Kirwan testified, weighed 142.7 grains and likewise was a .38 calibre lead bullet with copper coating, indicating it was manufactured by Western Cartridge Company. It also was fired, he said.

Kirwan said examination by Bonomi said Western Cartridge

Quick's in High Falls for beer but the place was closed.

Tells of Shot
They parked the car near the firehouse and there ensued a discussion in which Ruth had asked him why he had not stopped drinking and why he could not go to Florida in January as they had planned. While parked at that place, the statement recorded Lutz as saying they had been arguing in a loud voice. They started on to go to the Williams place but parked some distance away and the argument was renewed. It was during this argument that the shot was fired. He had struck her the week before but he would not do it again and then she opened her bag and he saw the gun. There was a struggle and he heard a shot.

Ruth Bergemann fell out of the car after the shot but one leg remained in the car. Lutz said he shoved the foot out and drove away. He drove through Roseton and on to New Paltz where he stopped for a drink. He proceeded on and at some point felt the gun and bag on the floor of the car and kicked it out of the car. He said he did not know how he drove to New York.

In the statement were bits of alleged conversation regarding Lutz's drinking and Ruth's charge that Lutz had been drinking too much. The statement also related that Ruth Bergemann did not point the gun at Lutz. Lutz said, in the statement, he had become panicky and did not know if the girl was dead or not when he drove away. He said he did not recall getting out of the car at the scene or ascertaining how badly she was injured.

Lutz in answer to questions said he had been divorced in either 1943 or 1944; that he had grabbed her hand when she told him he was not going to "smack me like you did before" and the gun, which had been in her bag on her lap, went off.

Never Threatened Girl
Both of them were angry during the discussion at High Falls. He said they had been perhaps 10 minutes at the scene before the shot was fired. He said he saw blood on the car seat at New Paltz and had placed a paper over the spot. He said he had never threatened to kill Ruth Bergemann.

After the statement was offered a recess was taken while Bonomi read the statement. He then said he had no objection to its being read by page and signed it and later accompanied the troopers, the district attorney and others on the trip from Kingston to New Paltz, Wallkill, Walden, Washingtonville and on to Monroe in an effort to locate the gun which Lutz said he had kicked out of the car along with the bag.

Johnson said the articles were not located and so far as he knew the gun never was found. County Identification Officer Leonard Belmonte was the last witness for the afternoon, testifying he went to High Falls with Deputy Arthur Brown on the morning of the shooting. They arrived at about 1:15 and pictures were taken of the spot where the body was found. He identified the pictures and also the shoe which was in evidence and which Belmonte said was found lying between the feet of Ruth Bergemann.

Court recessed until Wednesday at 10 a. m.

Red Air . . .

this government expects that the Soviet government "will express its regret for the unlawful and provocative behavior of its aviators" will punish those responsible for the attack on the navy plane and will "pay appropriate indemnity for the unprovoked destruction of American lives and property."

What the United States will do next if the Russians turn down these demands, as they may be expected to do, is the nub of the matter. The State and Defense Departments and the White House, in a sense American policy decisions will depend on estimates of why the shooting incident occurred at all.

Several possibilities are the subject of speculation among officials here. One is that the Soviet government has determined to try to close the Baltic, a key Russian defense area on its eastern shores, to American flights and has resorted to an act of terror to accomplish this.

Another possibility is that the Russians sent out fighters to investigate the American plane even though it was over international waters and that one of the fighter pilots fired in a trigger-happy moment. A third possibility is that the Russian fighters were under orders to force the plane to land in a hurry by capturing whatever secret American equipment, if any, might be aboard.

On the purely diplomatic side of the Baltic incident, the United States may or may not press the matter if the Soviets reject the American protest and demands. The case could be thrown into the United Nations on the basis that the alleged attack constituted a threat to peace. The incident also could be made the reason for a break in diplomatic relations between this country and the Soviet Union. There was no indication today, however, that the State Department would favor resorting to either course.

Company was the only company in the Northern Hemisphere at the present time which manufactures .38 calibre revolver bullets with copper coated lead at the present time, and the only such company as far as he knows in the world. Lutz said he stood by the prosecution was Detective Leslie L. Smith of the New York Police Department ballistics bureau. His direct testimony generally followed along the lines of that given by Kirwan.

On cross-examination, Smith said that similar lead bullets with copper coating were manufactured in the 38 calibre size by several other companies up to about 1937, and that it is possible that bullets manufactured in that year could still be used today.

The two bullets were also identified by John J. Trusch, a member of the New York Police ballistics bureau, who said he received the one bullet which was found in the automobile from Sergeant Blotto of the state police and turned it over to Detective Smith.

Bruhn on Stand

A brief appearance in the witness stand was made by District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn. Interrogated by his assistant, Vincent Connelly, Bruhn testified that the one bullet—the one found in the automobile—was in the same condition at the time of the trial as it was when it was turned over to him by Sergeant Arthur A. Reilly of the state police.

Reilly of the state police, stationed at the High Falls police substation was called and testified he had been present on November 28 when Lutz made the statement. He too, said Lutz cooperated with the police and accompanied them on the trip to look for the missing gun.

Trooper Elliott F. Johnson testified to the same facts, saying that Lutz signed and signed it and later accompanied the troopers, the district attorney and others on the trip from Kingston to New Paltz, Wallkill, Walden, Washingtonville and on to Monroe in an effort to locate the gun which Lutz said he had kicked out of the car along with the bag.

Johnson said the articles were not located and so far as he knew the gun never was found. County Identification Officer Leonard Belmonte was the last witness for the afternoon, testifying he went to High Falls with Deputy Arthur Brown on the morning of the shooting. They arrived at about 1:15 and pictures were taken of the spot where the body was found. He identified the pictures and also the shoe which was in evidence and which Belmonte said was found lying between the feet of Ruth Bergemann.

Court recessed until Wednesday at 10 a. m.

New York, April 19 (AP)—Steel

shares took the play in a churning stock market today.

Radio-television issues also made a strong showing while motors and rails attracted mild support. The balance of the market chugged along in a narrow price range with gains outnumbering losses by a modest margin.

Advances for favored stocks ranged from fractions to well over a point.

Business again hit a speedy rate and about even with yesterday when 3,320,000 shares changed hands, one of the largest totals since the war. Some low-priced stocks contributed heavily to volume.

Steel stocks had the benefit of a record high production schedule this week plus expectations of peak business for months ahead. Gainers in this group included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Jones & Laughlin, Armco, and Allegheny Ludlum.

Cripps in History

London, April 19 (AP)—A Conservative member of Parliament predicted today Sir Stafford Cripps will go down in history as the man who devalued our money and ruined our beer. The chancellor of the exchequer yesterday authorized brewers to restore Britain's beer to nearly prewar strength. Last September Cripps devalued the pound from $4.8 to $2.80. The quip was made by R. A. Butler in the House of Commons.

"Two old fishermen got into an argument one day about authentic fish, and each one was sure he knew more about authentic fish than the other. The dispute became so heated that the captain of the fishing boat decided to take a hand, and he gave them a problem to work on. This was the test problem."

"The fisherman now caught five hundred pounds of cod and men in their catch to put and sold it for eight cents a pound, how much would they get for the fish?"

"The two fishermen went to work but neither seem to get anywhere."

"At last old Bill turned to the captain and asked him to repeat the problem. The captain agreed. 'If a fisherman now caught five hundred pounds of cod and sold it for eight cents a pound, how much would they get for the fish?' And you say they caught cod?"

"Captain Sure. Bill will get it. No wonder I couldn't get the answer. Here I've been fishing on salmon all the time."

As Pegler Sees It

mearest mention of these muds off my chest before I would be hoisted down by the vile clique of knee-sprung sycophants who are the majority of the "regulars" at these charades. I doubt that I would be thrown out physically but the secret service would fence me in and Truman would say that that was just the type of question to be expected from an agent of the Hearst press and especially from Pegler. That would be a compliment but I would not be allowed to make that point and thank him for it, nor would he entertain my retort that his answer was unresponsive. That would be the end of it and I doubtless would be barred from future consultations of the press with the President for offending the presidential dignity.

Roosevelt, R. I., issued such an order against me and John O'Donnell late in the 'thirties, not, in my case, for anything I had said at a conference, for I had attended only two and found them disgusting exhibitions of servility. In my case, the bars were going up because I had caught him and members of his family in scandalous flagrances. He was afraid I would tear back and ask direct questions. Had I known that I was being barred I certainly would have presented myself at the next holding but Steve Early heard of it before the order could be proclaimed and told Roosevelt not to be a damn fool. Therefore the banishment was cancelled.

It will be noted that the offense against the dignity of the presidency in my hypothetical examination of President Truman comes not from me but from the man who fouls the office. The facts are established. Truman was a bankrupt petty retailer who latched onto a machine which was dirtier even than the league and Kelly corruptions because his patron, Tom Pendergast, tolerated and collected graft from regulated prostitution. There is no lower creature in our morals than the mackerel. Truman knew all about this and willingly, even eagerly, carried on his duties under this unspeakable criminal. He fought to protect Pendergast from prosecution and he had put to persecution ever since Maurice Milligan, the United States attorney who did the work.

Slot machines were unimportant in the Kansas City gambling houses of Truman's time under Pendergast. Keno parlors operated openly, however, and blackjack tables were visible from the street in saloons and kindred joints. There were many crap games.

A factory manufactured and advertised loaded dice and marked cards. Roulette and a sort of Monte known as kiondyke thrived openly. A clip of every dollar went to Tom Pendergast along with a clip from every dollar taken by every prostitute, and Harry S. Truman was Pendergast's favorite protégé. Pendergast sent him to the Senate.

There is irony in the fact that the horse wires which Truman, through McGrath, would not suppress, were the means of keeping the old blackguard broke. He lived at the end of the horse wire and lost his filthy money betting on the races as fast as he could steal or extort it.

Yet, under the "rules" of presidential press conferences, it is considered dirty pool and unethical conduct in a reporter to ask the old-accomplish of this wallowing swine to square his own past acquiescence and active intervention with his present pretense of abhorrence.

That is not square journalism. It is a betrayal of the responsibility of a free press to accept arbitrary conditions which protect a guilty man in office out of fear of some reporter's getting the bum's rush. (Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

In the February 1906, page 64 issue of "Older Ulster" by Benjamin Myer Brink is an item which reads as follows: "Older Ulster has received a copy of letter accompanying eight large bundles of scalps 'cured dried, hooped and pointed' torn from the men, women and children on our frontiers by the Indians for the bounty. A d sent to the governor of Canada in 1782 to be forwarded to England. (I had always hoped that 'scalping by Indians' was just a historical fable, but I guess above proves otherwise.)

The following taken from same page may prove of interest to relatives of first settlers around here: "Gustave Anjou, Ph. D. has undertaken a work which deserves the commendation of every lover of the history of this old county. He is carrying through the press a series of volumes which will contain abstracts of all the early wills, deeds, mortgages, inventories and the like of record, which will give valuable information in an accessible form of lines of descent, inheritances, relationships and collateral matters. The series will also contain the baptism and marriage records of the old Reformed Church of the town of Rochester, at Accord, N. Y. He has done a similar work in Europe, America and even New Zealand."

On page 47 is the Rip Van Dam Patent granted in the name of Queen Anne in 1709. In after years of 1731-2 he was the acting royal governor of the province of New York under George 2. The link is most distinct and on the parchment is appended the seal of the royal coat of arms which is photographed on page 46.

The Rip Van Dam Patent covered 3,500 acres on the east side of the Walkill river in the present town of Shawangunk and the Home Farm of the Borden estate is largely within its borders. The item also says in part: "It is interesting to notice that the rights going with the ownership of the soil are specified Together with all wood, underwoods, trees, timbers, feedings, pastures, meadows, marshes, swamps, ponds, pools, waters, water courses, rivers, rivulets, runs and streams of water, fishing, fowling, hawking, hunting, mines and minerals, standing, growing, lying and being or to be used, but fir and pine trees fit for masts for the Royal Navy are reserved as well as all gold or silver mines.

"The patentees were to pay each year the rent of two shillings and six pence per 100 acres upon the least day of St. Michael the Archangel. It was also expressly stipulated that if anyone under the authority or with the connivance of the patentees should attempt to clear the lands by setting fire to the woods thereon the patent should be void."

The "Fleet Prison" explains what the colonists did with political prisoners, page 40 of this issue. On May 27, 1777, the Council of Safety appropriated 120 pounds to the use of Gilbert Livingston and Major Jacobus Van Zandt, or either of them, to provide vessels upon which to confine prisoners of war. This committee immediately acted to secure a number of ships which were anchored in the Rondout creek. "On the Strand." In various documents this prison is mentioned as "The Fleet Prison in the Esopus," "The States Prison on the Fleet at the Landing at Esopus," "The State's Prison at the Strand at Kingston Harbor." More on their rations, physician attendance etc., in a future column.

Refugees Worry Kashmir
Srinagar, Kashmir (P) Some 600 persons who tricked through 18,000-foot mountain passes to escape from Sinkiang pose several problems for Kashmir authorities. Officials say the refugees are unwilling for the present to return to their homeland, now controlled by Chinese Communists, and do not wish to go to Formosa, held by Chinese Nationalists. The government of India originally proposed to repatriate the refugees in October, but Kashmir officials asked a postponement. Meanwhile, many refugees have become destitute. The Indian Red Cross plans to give relief and refugee leaders are trying to get aid from the United Nation.

Magazine Asks Lifting Of Ban by Schools

Albany, N. Y., April 19 (AP)—The acting state education commissioner has received decision on an appeal by The Nation for removal of a ban on the magazine in New York city public schools. After a 90-minute hearing yesterday, Lewis A. Wilson gave the magazine until May 5 to submit briefs to support its arguments.

R. Lawrence Siegel, an attorney for the publication, argued that continuation of the two-year-old ban was a "cruel and unusual punishment."

The city board of education removed "The Nation" from its list of approved publications for school libraries in June 8, 1928, after the magazine had published a series of articles on the Catholic Church.

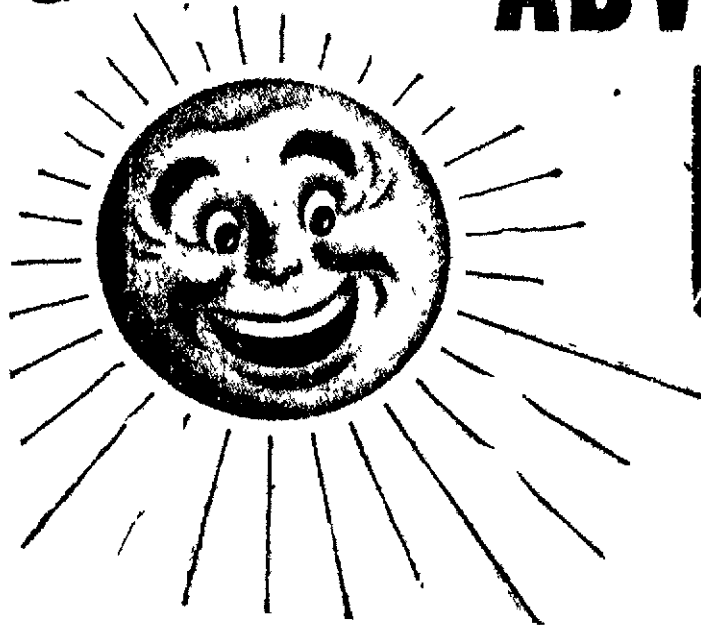

"systematic attacks" on the church. Siegel asked Wilson to reverse a decision by the late Francis T. Spaulding who, as state education commissioner, upheld the city's board's action.

POP GOES THE PROPAGANDA

Generalissimo Joseph V. Stalin
Chairman, Council of Ministers
Kremlin, Moscow, U.S.S.R.,
Dear Joe:

If I may make so bold, I'd like to call your attention to a matter which is no laughing matter, even though it's been getting a lot of laughs lately. Namely, the recent efforts of your propaganda boys to win friends and influence people in this part of the world.

The bug in the borscht, as I see it, is that your tub-thumpers are currently telling such whoppers that a Moscow dateline alone is enough now to set folks snickering. And, as an old hoopla huckster, I can testify that though our average citizen will swallow a certain amount of bologna he usually insists on having it sliced thin and between two pieces of honest bread.

Take, for instance, last winter's Lollapalooza about how your engineers were nudging mountains with uranium. We degenerate democrats, whether you know it or not, are a fact-minded people who thrive on details. When a fellow says he's Napoleon we want to see his birth certificate, and when he says he's atomized an Alp we want to see the hole in the ground. And since your press department failed to back up its brag with a single snapshot, millions of us—the very people you were trying to impress—read the dispatch and said, "who do the commies think they're kidding?"

Then there were the recent humdingers which claimed that every doodad from the wheel to the flying saucer had been invented by a Russian. Now, I don't doubt that many an important idea has been hatched between the Carpathians and the Urais, but when your propaganda machine gives the rest of the world credit for nothing but the Lirid hop and the bubonic plague, a lot of folks who might otherwise be friendly begin to titter—and even your legitimate claims get lost in the chitche.

Our mass reactions were neatly summed up a few months ago when The New Yorker cartooned a group of your agents in China discussing policy. "The main thing is to handle them with tact," said one of them. "Let them think they invented gunpowder." Some issues later, the same periodical ran another capacious cartoon in which several Politburocrats were debating the question, "Shall we invent television now or wait until they perfect color?"

As another, and admittedly playful, example of what I'm getting at, let me tell you about my own experiences with your editors and copywriters.

Every now and occasionally as some idle-eye in your press division has apparently noticed, I take a playful poke at your regime in my column—an event which certainly doesn't figure to precipitate a crisis of state. But instead of fling it in the wastebasket, and going about their business, your name-callers have twice made the mistake of answering back—and both times with the finesse of a lumberjack trying to tat.

The first time, a year ago, both Pravda and Izvestia reported I was a "white slaver" and that my humpy-dumpy little cabaret was "the biggest bordello in the world." And as if that weren't enough, they went on to say that my partners in this enterprise were John Edgar Hoover and Bernard M. Baruch.

Well, as might have been expected, this bombastic bombshell exploded nothing but giggles. Time magazine reprinted the item as a gag, my chorus girls threatened to picket the Russian consulate, and the syndicate which handles my stuff picked up a few more papers.

All of which should have taught your word-wasters a lesson, but it didn't. A few days ago, someone mailed me the February issue of your magazine, Novy Mir (New World), and—lo and surprise—in it was an article by one P. Khrushchev which, by way of documenting the degeneracy of American culture, described me as "a gangster with three chins" who "murdered a man and grabbed his capital."

I took this, I assure you, as a

Indicating Food

Dear Mrs. Post: Mother is sure that an invitation to a reception implies to most people no more than a few party sandwiches, beverage and wedding cake. Accordingly she believes that even though we request a reply people won't pay any attention. Our reception will be at five and we'll serve substantial salads and sandwiches, bouillon (hot) and coffee, ice cream and the wedding cake and beverage. What word can be used instead of reception?

Answer: The only alternate to the word reception would be: and afterwards at 24 Main Street E.S.V.P.

This however, promises much less than the word "reception."

Decisions Up to Friends

Dear Mrs. Post: Inasmuch as the disapproval of my parents to my marriage will vary likely mean that I'll have no wedding reception, do you think I should let my friends give me showers? It seems unfair to let them do these things when I won't be able to invite them to anything.

Answer: Your friends surely know your family situation, and certainly would not chide their impulse to give you parties. In fact, if anything, it would make them want even more to do things for you.

Behavior Best Chaperon

Dear Mrs. Post: It will not be possible for my fiancé to get away from his work long enough to come here to see me. We're both in our early thirties, a fact which he said makes it proper for me to make the trip to see him. The question is that I'll have to stay alone in a hotel and there's no one from here to go with me. My parents refuse to cooperate and insist that it would be most improper. Is there any help you can give us?

Answer: Under the circumstances that you mention, I feel sure that the propriety of your own behavior will be all that is required.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but if you are planning to give a hostess-alone dinner party, she tells what to serve and how to serve it in the simplest manner in her booklet, No. 503. ### Y.W.C.A. Names Nancy Hotaling Its Apple Queen

Another contender for Ulster County's Apple Blossom Queen is 17-year-old Nancy Hotaling, the Y.W.C.A.'s entrant. Nancy was elected the Y.W.C.A. queen at a meeting of the Tri Hi Y-Teen Club. She was one of four candidates proposed by club members.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hotaling, 37 Van Buren street. A senior at Kingston High School, she has been an active Y-Teen since she joined the Y.W.C.A. as a member of the eighth grade club. Graduating from school in June, she plans to enter Kingston Hospital as a student nurse.

Plans were made for decorating a float for the Apple Blossom parade and Ellen Byrne, Audrey Burke and Leona Olen were appointed to the committee to make the preparations.

Coterie Club Hears Story of Folk Songs

Mrs. Frank Thompson reported on the love of American folk songs at a meeting of the Coterie Club at the home of Maj. Helen Clearwater, 143 St. James street.

Mrs. Thompson said every phase of American life has left a record in folk songs—the song of the cowboy, the miner, the hill-billy, the sailor, the soldier, the Negro—some tragic, some sentimental and some humorous.

The song of the cowboy, while often morbid, Mrs. Thompson said, was sung in a lusty and rollicking manner. The Negro spirituals were often full of pathos and yearning.

There are also songs of the rivers, valleys, mountains and canals, and often they have the same words only slightly changed to fit the locale, she declared.

Rivers, most popular in songs are the Wabash, the Red River, the Swanne and the Mississippi. The Erie Canal is also the subject of several airs.

A member of the group, describing the meeting, said: "Acquainting us with some of the songs of the cowboy, Mrs. Thompson fairly brought to us the smell of leather and the saddle, while her recital of the songs sung by the Negro fishermen as they would return at sunset from the oyster beds or fishing banks made us hear the melodious blending of voices filled with yearning, pathos and beauty, natural to their race, and realize how large a share they have donated to the songs of America."

Next meeting of the group will be April 29 at the home of Mrs. Frank McCausland, 88 Crane street. Mrs. Raymond Van Valkenburgh will present a paper.

Philip Cummings Tells Dinner Club That America Has Become Imperialist

Philip Cummings, world traveler and analyst of foreign affairs, told a meeting of the Dinner Club last night that America was "becoming imperialist."

"Within the last three weeks, we have told three countries to change their governments or we would withdraw our aid," he declared. "We are becoming imperialist—we, whom I have always defended as being non-imperialist."

Declaring that the three countries he referred to were Greece, Italy and Korea, Mr. Cummings said Americans who died in the last war had been dedicated to the right of nations to self-determination, but that America was now asking three countries to become not countries of their determination but countries of our determination.

He said there were extenuating circumstances in the U. S. attitude, but that the "biggest danger is in trying to make believe that we can put our design for living . . . into another country. It can't be done."

Mr. Cummings criticized what he described as an American government demand that Communists be admitted into the governments of Greece and Korea. "Communists and non-Communists cannot coalesce," he declared.

Discussing China, he declared that great numbers of Americans had until recently been convinced that the Chinese Communists were somehow "not really Communists" and, in another connection, he declared that U. S. defense of Formosa was not possible.

"Always remember that the raw material of that statement (that we should defend Formosa) are your sons," he said. "The State Department cannot sell you that bill of goods."

He said the "obscene haste" of Britain in recognizing Red China was due to its imperial interests in Hong Kong and other areas of the Far East, and in a discussion of the Labor government repeated a quotation which he asked his audience to think over carefully: "Socialism is the corollary of communism."

He said in his opinion "there are no men in the world who most hate the nation I am now living in—one is named Joseph Stalin, and the other is named Sir Stafford Cripps." He charged that Cripps was an "arch eternal socialist" and an "ardent disciple of the late Harold Laski."

One of the highpoints of Mr. Cummings' talk came when he urged recognition of Spain.

The United States recognizes the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and other nations some of which are "openly inimical to us"—but not Spain, he asserted.

Charging that American thinking in regard to Spain was "sloppy," he said: "If we were to kick Franco out of Spain, we would have to recreate some kind of a dictatorship." He declared that the high literacy in Spain made strong control essential.

The reason why we do not recognize Spain today, he said, is that the Communist majority in France four years ago, together with the Communist bloc in the United Nations put pressure on Britain to withdraw recognition from Spain. This was "at the request of the Soviet Union," he said America trying to be correct with her allies, fell along with them, he said, and now finds herself "hamstrung" in regard to Spain.

Mr. Cummings declared what he said was an American tendency to join crusades for a better

Rowe Is General Committee Head For Y.M.C.A. Drive

James L. Rowe will be chairman of this general committee for the Y.M.C.A. drive, which opens May 4. This was announced by the Steering Committee at the Board of Directors meeting Tuesday evening. The General Committee will be made up of 50 people, who will contact friends of the "Y" from May 4 to May 15.

Senator Arthur H. Wickes is again acting as honorary chairman of the drive, with Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk as honorary chairman of Initial Gifts Committee. Lloyd LeFevre is chairman of Initial Gifts Committee. Dwight McIntire, Sr., is honorary chairman of the General Committee. The Steering Committee will consist of Board of Directors Clarence Rowland, A. B. Shufeldt, Emil G. Boessneck and Clifford C. Rose.

After careful study of the minimum needs of the next 12 months of operation beginning May 1, a budget of $50,914.12 was proposed. Of this amount $18,500 must be secured in pledges or cash during the coming campaign. The balance will be produced from regular program and income features of the association.

The "Learn to Swim" campaign set up by the physical department each spring was reported ready to start. Lou Schafer is in charge of this program, assisted by Clarence Correll. This gives boys, who are not members of the Y.M.C.A., the opportunity to learn to swim. The free instruction period for girls will come as usual during the summer vacation months. A complete report of the successful basketball tournament also was given by Schafer.

It was reported that Mrs. George DuBois was again elected president of the Women's Auxiliary which is very active in the work of the "Y". The latest undertaking is the preparing and serving of the supper for the newly formed Industrial Management Club. The Women's Auxiliary report an unusually good year during which membership and activities have greatly grown.

JUST PLAIN "BILL"

Because his smiling face attracted hundreds of friends among American soldiers on the Hong Kong waterfront, this 11-year-old Chinese boy, known only as "Bill," may get a chance to become an American citizen. Army Sgt. Robert Curtis and his wife, of San Pedro, Calif., are making frantic efforts to cut immigration red tape and bring Bill from Yokohama, Japan, to this country for adoption. The couple took Bill from China to Japan, but when they came to the United States were unable to bring him with them.

Grange News

Rural Life Sunday falls on May 14 this year. If we seem to remind you so far ahead of time it's because you may wish to plan an especially appropriate program for them, and it is none too soon to begin thinking about it. The Rural Church Institute's 1950 theme: "The Rural Church Serving the Whole Community" may be helpful in suggesting something to build on. They have had printed this year an attractive Rural Life Sunday bulletin, and it is available in reasonable quantities to those churches willing to take an offering for the Institute's year-round activities. You may write to the Rev. Stanley Skinner, Barnes Hall, Cornell University, Ithaca, for information.

We call this to the attention of our Grange and community friends throughout the state for the very particular reason that in case you are not already aware of it, there is a growing undercurrent of spiritual feeling through the land which is probable.

HOT, FIERY GAS

Stomach Like a Furnace

A Kingston man said recently that his stomach used to burn like a "gas factory." That is, when he ate a meal it seemed to turn right into hot gas. He was always bloated, had gas pains daily. But now this man says he is FREE of STOMACH GAS and he says the change is due to taking INNER-AID. His meals agree with him.

INNER-AID is a new formula containing Nature's Herbs. Taken before meals it works with your food, expels the gas, and thus you get the fullest good out of your meals. Besides relieving gas, it also gives the bowels a great cleansing, bringing out the old, foul impurities that cause you to be run-down and "out-of-sorts." Miserable people soon feel better all over. So don't go on suffering! Get INNER-AID at any good Drug Store.

ably stronger than in any time in our history. We are not prepared to give you page and verse on this, nor analyse the reason, but we strongly suspect that it is definitely linked with a trend toward a keener appreciation of our liberties and freedom.

Everybody Wins is the title of the new Community Service Contest booklet, just off the press at National Grange. (We just bet they stole that from us—those of you who were paying attention last month will recall we told you that this was one contest where "nobody loses," and "everyone takes down a winner"). But what we started to tell you is that each Grange will be receiving a couple of copies soon and if you have already begun your own projects it will probably assist in putting the right touches to make them a winner; if you have not, you will be inspired to swing into action without delay. Incidentally, it highlights the most popular types of projects over the country, those which lead are: education, medical service, recreation, highway and community improvement and fire protection. (Where have you heard that last one before?) The characters of Mr. and Mrs. Macomber, created by Charles Dickens, are said to be portrayals of Dickens' parents.

CHICKEN OFFERS MANY RECIPES

By GAYNOR MADDOCK
NEA Staff Writer

Recently I went to an All-American chicken dinner given by poultry producers. There were purpose chickens (you can fry, boil or roast them) cooked 12 different ways. All the recipes were interesting, you can judge by these two examples:

Chicken Salad Avocado

One 3- to 3 1/2-lb. ready-to-cook chicken, 6 ripe avocados, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons oil, 1/3 cup chopped toasted almonds, 3 tablespoons peeled apples, 1 1/2 cup chopped avocado, 1 dash red pepper, 1 teaspoon salt.

Simmer chicken slowly in just enough water to cover, until tender. When cool, separate meat from bones and cut into cubes. Add white grapes, peeled and divided, and well-buttered toast. Scoop out the center of a thoroughly ripe avocado, dice finely (or chop) enough of it to pulp to make approximately 3 cups. Add this to the chicken mixture.

Mash about 1/4 remaining avocado pulp with a fork, add lemon juice, salt and red pepper. Beat with a fork until light and fluffy, adding salad oil slowly as needed. Make a creamy consistency, combine avocado dressing with other ingredients and toss lightly. All scooped avocado shells with the salad mixture. Garnish with mint jelly if desired.

Oven-Broiled Chicken

Two 2 1/2- to 3-lb. chickens, cut in half, necks, gizzards, hearts, large onion, 1 clove garlic, 1 teaspoon sugar, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt, 1/4 teaspoon cayenne, 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/4 cup tomato juice, 1/4 cup vinegar, 1/4 cup water, chicken livers, 1/4 lb. mushrooms (optional). Lay chicken skin-side down in shallow open pan. Add sliced onion, gizzards, hearts and garlic. Pour in water to fill pan about 1/2 inch. Cook in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 1 hour, turning occasionally—water should be reduced about half.

Meanwhile, prepare Barbecue Sauce: Mix sugar, mustard, salt, pepper, garlic salt and cayenne in saucepan. Add Worcestershire, tomato juice, vinegar, and water. Heat to boiling and pour all sauce over chicken. Bake chicken with hot sauce about every 10 minutes, leaving a pool of sauce in rib cage when halves are turned. Turn and sauce reduced to a rich gravy, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours longer. For larger chicken, cook longer. Should sauce thicken before chicken is done, add 1/2 to 1 cup boiling water. Drop sliced mushrooms and livers into sauce about 15 minutes before chicken is done.

Let chicken to hot, platter and serve the sauce separately. Yield: 4 halves, or 8 quarters, or 4 to 8 servings.

For a rich crustiness, place well-basted chicken skin-side up under broiler. Watch it—3 minutes may be ample!

Note: For barbecuing chicken on outdoor grill, use same sauce, simmered down, applying frequently with spoon or stick with cloth on end.

Honeymooners End Search by Phone Call

New York, April 19 (AP)—The flight of two young lovers slowed down to a peaceful honeymoon today for Juan Gonzalez Cuevas and Joyce Green, his 18-year-old chain store heiress bride.

The elopers ended a 14-state police search yesterday when they telephoned their families they had been married Monday at Nashville, N. C.

The hunt began after Cuevas, 22, spirited his sweetheart away from a Greenfield, Mass., finishing school today in his flashy yellow convertible.

After the wedding announcement, blessings came from Octavio Cuevas, father of the groom, and millionaire H. L. Green of New York city and Fairfield county, Conn., father of the heiress.

Green announced the couple was "honeymooning in the south." But the New York Daily News said it had learned they were back in New York city.

Joyce, a tall, dark and statuesque beauty, met her husband under a tropic moon last summer when she took a Caribbean cruise on the liner Santa Rosa, Young Cuevas, whose father is a transit executive in Miami, was working aboard as a purser. His family is Cuban.

On Friday, friends later told police, Cuevas talked her into an elopement. They were married at noon Monday in the Nashville County Registry of Deeds by Mrs. William S. Brunn, a justice of the peace.

More Crimes in Winter During 1929 in the U. S., more robberies, burglaries and auto thefts occurred in the winter than in the summer. Larcenies were lower during the first part of the year and reached their high point in the late fall and early winter.

Against Homework New York, April 19 (AP)—New York city's high school teachers don't like homework, either. Yesterday the teachers in more than half the city's high schools voted to quit all after-hours work until they get a $800 annual pay raise. The action came in reprisal for Mayor William O'Dwyer's omission from the budget of $13,000,000 for teachers pay. The mayor has until April 27 to put it back in again if he changes his mind.

Marine Vet Back In Jail; Operation Result in Doubt

New York, April 19 (AP)—A handsome former marine, who submitted to risky brain surgery last fall to cure him of criminal tendencies, was back in jail today—wanted by the law in four states.

He is 25-year-old Charles Hinkley, arrested as a fugitive from a Kansas Veterans Administration hospital where doctors had hoped he would regain normality.

Hinkley was picked up in South Deerfield, Mass., at the end of a trail of bad checks that began with his escape from the Winter General Hospital in Topeka, Kan., two weeks ago, authorities said.

Topeka wants him back, and older charges are pending against him in New York city and Florida.

Last Oct. 27 at Coral Gables, Fla., Dr. Irwin Perlmutter performed the delicate operation known as "pre-frontal lobotomy" on Hinkley's brain.

A hole was cut in his skull and the pre-frontal lobe was cut off from the rest of his brain.

The operation—widely debated in medical circles—frequently has reduced a patient's mental or criminal disorders.

But a long convalescence is necessary. Dr. Perlmutter said it would take up to two years to re-educate the veteran and make him a useful citizen again.

He was admitted to the veterans hospital last November.

Hinkley had read about the operation in a magazine while held in the county jail at Miami on an auto theft charge.

The charges against him were not dismissed, but were held in abeyance to see how the operation and cure would work out. A federal charge against him also was temporarily withdrawn.

He is charged specifically in New York with passing a bad check for $138. There are other similar accusations here involving $1,500.

His arrest came after South Deerfield police were tipped on his escape and kept an eye out for him to visit friends.

Weather, Not Virus Is Cause of Colds

Boston, April 19 (AP)—The common cold is probably not caused by a virus as you have been told for many years, nor by germs of any sort.

Instead grandfather was right when he said it was caused by the weather.

This surprising view of colds was given to the American College of Physicians by Dr. William J. Kerr, of San Francisco, and of the University of California School of Medicine. His opinion, he explained, was backed by a lot of laboratory experiments.

He said he doesn't believe that

Antagonistic

North Carolina has recorded several instances when voracious bluefish have driven schools of menhaden on to the shore until they were piled knee-deep.

The usual causes, he said, are dusts, gases, emotions, and especially those changes in the nose which come with changes in weather.

After an even temperature all summer, he said, you get cold fall weather. Your nasal passages get over-cooled.

All these changes damage the nasal passages. And that damage starts a cold. Germs multiply and make it worse. The cold lasts until the nasal damage is repaired.

City Baseball League Elects Turck President; Opens Season on May 15

8 Teams Return; Playing Roster Reduced to 17

Dawkins Elected Vice-President

The City Baseball League elected Charles J. "Jimmy" Turck president and decided to start the 1950 season on Monday, May 15, at last night's business meeting at the Y.M.C.A.

Turck, a veteran baseball figure with several years of experience in semi-pro and the twilight circuit, succeeds Jack Dawkins, who was named vice-president.

All other officers of the league were retained. Ed Murphy was named secretary-scarekeeper; Jake Senior, treasurer; Joe Tomassie, collector; and Pat DeCicco, groundkeeper.

Despite this season will be three familiar City League faces, but "The" Murphy, Bob Tierney and Joe Messenger.

Eight Teams Return
The league lineup and club managers for 1950 will be: Boulevard Galt (manager) — Alvin Vogt, probable pitcher; Morgan's — Bud Zoller; Cher Emilio — Joe Hoffman; Frank's Sport Shop — Joe Watzka; Wiltwyck Motors — Ferrell "Pink" McKeath; C. to a L. Merchants — Bill "Parker" Davis; Jones Dairy — George Zandy; Stable's Bakery — manager undecided.

Reduce Rosters
The managers voted to reduce the playing roster from 20 players to 17.

Several other matters of policy were discussed and final decisions will be made at the next meeting on Tuesday, April 25, at 7 p. m. at the Y.M.C.A.

Players' rosters and entry fees will be filed at that time.

Following the meeting the entire gathering visited the home of the late John Watzka to pay their respects. Mr. Watzka was the father of the Watzka brothers who play with Frank's Sport Shop in the twilight league.

Heavy Tournament Schedule for P.G.A.

Chicago, April 19 (AP)—The Professional Golfers' Association — proclaiming that "harmony and understanding" exist between the front office and its playing stars — has arranged a summer program of 19 tournaments carrying $335,000 in prizes.

President Joe Novak said three week-ends still are unfilled in the potential record-breaking summer slate. "If they are filled, he said, 1950 will be the P.G.A.'s greatest money-payout year — a prize aggregate of more than $530,000 anticipated for combined winter, spring and summer competition.

Fights Last Night

Little Too Seasoned To Be Really Nervous

Washington, April 19 (AP)—The old gentleman looked startled as he repeated the question.

"Nervous?" he said. "Well, no, sir, I don't think I'm nervous." He thought for a moment and then added:

"After 50 years, why should I be?"

Thus did Connie Mack, a spry 87, start on his 50th year yesterday as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

He had fetched his A's to Washington to meet the Nationals in the major league baseball opener.

Pinehurst, N. C., April 19 (AP)—The battle lines were drawn tighter as only 32 of the original 137 hopefuls remained for today's second and third round play in the 50th annual North and South Amateur golf tournament.

Today's 24 matches will leave only eight survivors for tomorrow's quarter-final play.

Each of the two brackets had a "Big Three." The upper bracket was headed by defending champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio. Harry H. Haverstick, the medalist from Lancaster, Penn., and Pinehurst's Dick Chapman.

Top men of the lower bracket were William C. Campbell of Huntington, W. Va.; Jimmy McHale, former Walker cupper from Philadelphia; and Harold Padlock, Jr., of Cleveland Heights, a former Ohio champion.

Campbell had the closest call in yesterday's first round. He had to ram a 15-foot birdie putt on the 22nd hole to put out Bill Shields of Albany, N. Y.

Stranahan and Haverstick each posted a 4 and 3 first round victory; Stranahan's victim was Mort Reed of Rochester, N. Y. A. M. Foster of New York bowed to Haverstick.

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

The radio in the main foyer of the Mansion House in Lakewood, N. J., was saturating a coterie of Colonial hopefuls with bebop. Strickly jump stuff, they were enjoying it immensely. Harvey Porter, a pleasant faced young man with an ingratiating smile was dominating the conversation.

Porter is a five-year minor league veteran and this spring training routine must have been old stuff to him. He looks like the "take over" guy in the camp and around him nightly you will find a group of players swapping yarns and making with the brisk repartee.

That was the first solid impression we got of Emil Gall's 1950 Colonials . . . youthful, hustling, fine esprit de corps. Now if we can only develop some real pitchers.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

We enjoyed an enlightening, thought-provoking discussion on sport, at Fabian Russell's palatial Saugerties residence after Harry Grayson, the NEA sports editor, had delivered a stirring address to the Father-Son banquet sponsored by the Saugerties Lions Club.

The gathering besides Mr. Russell and Grayson included Dr. Rod Bull, Bob Russell, Bill Kaufman, and Joe Garland, four distinguished Saugerties golfers; and Al Owens, former New York Giant professional football tackle by way of the University of Georgia. Owens is a trim, affable young business man who is doing a nice job as operator of Schoenstatt's Hotel. The conversation touched every phase of sports, including Thursday night bridge at which Garland and Bob Russell are unusually adept. Grayson and Owens squared off in a good natured debate on the merits of professional football.

The oratorically brilliant Grayson is a conscientious objector to play for pay football. He stoutly maintains that three years of high school and four seasons of college ball are enough for any kid.

"Not enough make real dough in pro football and some of them come out punchy," Grayson snapped.

Owens insisted that pro football today is a highly lucrative field for a standard player.

"What's wrong with guys like Sid Luckman, Sammy Baugh, Otto Graham and others picking up $15,000 to $20,000 a year throwing forward passes, maybe never making a tackle and once in a while dusting off their pants?" asked Owens.

Nothing would say, "It might be somewhat tougher in that line, but football being a mass promotion at the present time, we had to go along with Owens on that argument."

Grayson's antipathy toward football borders on the fanatic. He revealed that it cost him $75 for one telephone call to keep Bobby Grayson, All-American at Stanford University, out of pro football. Grayson was his nephew.

"Yip, it cost me $75 for a cross country long distance call from New York to California to keep Boy out of pro football," Grayson recoiled with visible satisfaction, "and it was worth every cent I spent. I talked him out of it."

Mains Clicks in Early Starts:
The Daily Trentonian's correspondent had some fine things to say about Port Ewen's Clark Mains after the Trenton Class B club of the Interstate League had trounced the Class A Sioux City club, 5 to 1, at the Sanford, Min., training camp.

Let the correspondent carry on:

"The Giants (Trenton) look better as a team than at this time last season. Manager Chie Genovese was highly pleased with the superlative pitching of Clark Mains."

The 6-foot-11½-pound New Yorker was unteachable against the Sox. He romped in a fairly curve with a low fast ball today for a hitless run of four innings during which he whiffed two and walked but one.

"Last year at Springfield in the Class D Ohio-Indiana League, Mains compiled an eye-opening mark of 20 victories and eight losses. More spectacular, however, was his low earned-run average of 2.81. Mains promises to be extremely effective under the lights at Dunn Field with his low ball pitching."

Pari-mutuel horse race betting by telephone has been inaugurated in France. For the price of one phone call, the French can now get two wrong numbers.

Carnera, Stanlee Or Don Eagle Sought as Foe

Four All-Star Bout Listed by Johnston

Antonio "Argentine" Rocca, the sensational South American acrobat who is regarded as the most spectacular wrestler of the day, will headline the next all-star professional card in Kingston on Saturday, April 29, Promoter Bill Johnston announced today.

Johnston, currently enjoying success as a Columbia Broadcasting System TV wrestling commentator, said Rocca would be matched against one of three top-notch rivals — Gene "Mr. America" Stanlee, Don Eagle, a now sensation, or Primo Carnera, the former world's heavyweight champion.

Rocca and Carnera both have played to capacity crowds in Kingston.

Mixed Garden
A Rocca-Stanlee contest would be a re-match of a bout that has twice attracted 17,000 spectators to New York's Madison Square Garden. Both bouts ended in draws.

The man from south of the border who employs an amazing technique has a solid following in the mid-Hudson area and fans from all mid-Hudson towns are expected to flock to Kingston for the performance.

Undeclared since he came to the United States after a brilliant career in South America, Rocca has advanced to the status of the highest paid grappler in the industry, surpassing the fading Gorgeous George and even Stanlee.

"Mr. America" has twice appeared in Kingston since Johnston started his wrestling promotions.

Known as "Back Breaker" Rocca's chief weapon is the famous "back breaker" maneuver. He leaps high into the air, planting his bare feet squarely on the back of his opponent. Rocca wrestles in his bare feet and all the while he is in the ring, he bounces up and down like a rubber ball, working up leverage for his flying leaps.

The Rocca headliner will be supported by three all-star matches involving well known mat personalities. The pairings will be announced later.

"Rocca against any of the three opponents I am trying to land will make a great bout for Kingston and Hudson valley fans," Johnston said. "Don Eagle is a big new star, a top television favorite, while Carnera and Stanlee speak for themselves."

Tickets have been placed on sale at Tommy Maines' sport shop, 360 Broadway. For phone reservations call 6039-J.

Colonials Book Exhibitions With Lakehurst and Bangor

Lakewood, N. J., April 19 (The) serious business of wedding out the Kingston Colonial squad for the Colonial League opens on May 2 in Poughkeepsie, continued today with Manager Emil Gail's "B" squad engaging the Lakehurst Training Station team in an exhibition at Ocean Park.

A return contest is scheduled tomorrow at the naval station. A pair of week-end exhibitions are also slated on Saturday and Sunday against the Bangor Pa. club of the Class D North Atlantic League.

The Bangor club is managed by Al Gardella, who piloted the Peekskill, N. Y. team when it was in the North Atlantic circuit.

Will Work Together

A secondary purpose of the Bangor exhibitions is to display Colonial hopefuls who are not quite ready for B ball but who can help a D club.

Although no formal written agreement has been made between the Colonials and Bangor, it is known that Gardella and Manager Gail will work together during the season.

The sudden departure of veteran Danny Portmutter left one outfield berth wide open. Frank Merola, a 318 swatter in Class C last year, apparently has nailed down the left field position, while Alfonso "Al" Gerard, a 364 hitter in the tough Puerto Rican League, figures to be a standout in right field.

Need Centerfielder
A couple of candidates are Angelo Scarpa of Brooklyn and John Murray of Plains, Georgia. Realizing that an experienced player is needed for the vital middle slot, Manager Gail said he hoped to land a seasoned performer in the next few days.

Charlie Aspromonte of Brooklyn, who had experience with New York University, appears to have the inside track and his work in the next few games will be watched closely.

By Sunday night Manager Gail expects to have a pretty good line on his talent for 1950. The ace will fall heavily after the exhibitions and the weak spots will reveal themselves.

The weather continued warm yesterday and the pitchers are rapidly rounding into form. By the week-end every hurler on the squad should be throwing hard.

THE WHIP—Weight, strength and stamina restored, Ewell Blackwell is again ready to snap it for the Reds.

CENTRAL REC LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

Major League Roundup

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Old Case, reigning miracle man of baseball, has done it again. The Yankees are off a-wing on the strength of a thumping 15-10 opening day victory yesterday at Fenway Park.

They did it the hard way, overcoming an early 9-0 Boston lead and winning with nine runs in a shocking eighth-inning revolution. Just like 1949.

Boston, overwhelming favorite to cop the American League pennant and dethrone the world champion Yankees, had company. Brooklyn's National League champs, also flopped. They fell before the youthful Philadelphia Phils, 9-1. Don Newcombe, pitching ace of the favored Brooks, was knocked from the box in the second inning before 28,074.

Yankees Explode
Getting back to Boston where the real fireworks exploded, the Red Sox harbored real hopes of blasting their getaway jinx. Instead they lost their third straight opener. Their 21-game carryover win streak at Fenway Park is smashed.

It started like an easy ride for Mel Parnell, 25-game winner of last year. Boston knocked out Allie Reynolds, the Yankee No. 1, in the first inning. The 16-year-old Kenosha, Wis. miss was last year's winner of the National Junior Outdoor 200-meter backstroke, holds record for event.

Then it happened. Fourteen Yankees went to bat in the inning. After Parnell it was Walt Masterson, Earl Johnson, Al Papi and finally Charley Schanz. When it was over, the Yankees had scored nine runs for a 13-10 lead. Just to make it sure, they added two in the ninth off Bob Farris.

Tigers Stop Tribe
Detroit spoiled the day for Cleveland's fine opening turnout by edging the Indians, 7-6, in 10 innings. The Tigers knocked Bob Lemon out of the box in the eighth and went on to win. Their last four runs were uncared for.

President Truman threw out the first ball at Washington where the Senators knocked off the Philadelphia A's, 8-7, before 31,548. Bucky Harris' lightly-re-

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

Card of Entry Is Defense Weapon

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

The average bridge player is apt to overlook the importance of conserving re-entries in his partner's hand. If your partner may hold the setting tricks, think twice before you follow the old rule, "second hand low." By playing high second hand, you may give your partner the card of entry he needs in order to cash his established cards.

In today's hand this sort of co-operation between the defenders brought about the defeat of a contract that otherwise could have been made.

On the opening lead of the seven of spades, East played the queen and declarer won with the ace. South then cashed four rounds of diamonds, ending up in dummy. On the third diamond West discarded the six of hearts. A small heart was led from dummy and East played second hand high, going up with the king. He returned another spade and the contract was beaten one trick, as the ace of hearts was an entry in West's hand for cashing the established spades.

Gift to College

New York, April 19 (AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has donated $1,000,000 to contribute to the development fund of Columbia University. Rockefeller's gift, announced last night, was a contribution to the overall development program to be used as the school's trustees see fit. He expressed the hope, however, it ultimately would be applied to a projected $3,500,000 science-library-theatre building.

The answers to everyday insurance problems —
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: Recently some friends and neighbors of ours had a serious fire. When the firemen had put out the fire, our friends wanted to go into the house and see what part of the house to remove some furniture and other possessions to their garage, which had not burned. However, some other neighbors told them that if they moved anything, the insurance company might not pay for their loss. Could you tell me if this is correct?

ANSWER: Far from it! Actually your friends not only had a perfect right to move their possessions in a safe place—it was their duty to do so. People who suffer a fire loss are obligated to do everything possible to prevent further damage or loss to undamaged or partially damaged property.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Learned in Prison
New York, April 19 (AP)—An ex-convict arrested on charges of making counterfeit coins was quoted as saying he learned the art in the Atlanta, Ga., federal penitentiary. The man, identified by authorities as Roland Nelson, 45, was held in $25,000 bail for the grand jury after Secret Service agents arrested him at Pennsylvania Station yesterday. Railroad police had found 786 counterfeit dimes and 36 bogus quarters in a locker. They took them away and left a note saying "come to the baggage room to claim the baggage originally in this locker." Nelson went to claim his "baggage" and was arrested. Assistant U. S. Attorney John C. Hilley said Nelson told authorities a man named Periman taught him how to make the coins while they were fellow-convicts at Atlanta.

STAYS WHITE AND BRIGHT FOR YEARS

DU PONT HOUSE PAINT
cleans itself!

- MAGNIFIED CROSS-SECTION SHOWS SELF-CLEANING PROCESS
1. All paints collect dust and dirt during the first few months.
  2. When Du Pont House Paint, a fine white powder forms on the surface after a few months.
  3. Rains wash off this powder—and with it, much of the accumulated dirt and grime.
  4. Self-Cleaning leaves surface clean and white... keeps it sparkling white for years. This cleaning process is gradual and does not adversely affect the long life of the paint.

For lasting home beauty, make sure your painter uses Du Pont House Paint. Made of an exclusive Du Pont combination of pigments and oils, it literally sheds dirt and dust during every heavy rain... leaves your home handsomely white, sparkling bright for years. Normally, this "Self-cleaning" action starts in a few months on most surfaces. However, excessive soot or heavy shade, or stains from metal surfaces such as copper screening, may interfere with or delay the process.

Consider the other advantages of Du Pont House Paint. As it keeps your house beautiful for years, it also protects against rust, rot and decay. Smooth, easy application, excellent spread and high-hiding—all these factors work in your favor when Du Pont House Paint goes on. It's available in "Self-cleaning" tints as well as white.

And here's a tip for your painter: When working on new wood or excessively weathered paint films, a prime coat of Du Pont House Paint Primer is recommended. It assures maximum adhesion and performance of the finish coat.
